

LIST POINT VALUES OF PROCESSED FOOD FOR MONTH OF JUNE

Little Possibility of Fundamental Changes This Summer

TOMATO JUICE DOWN

Table Effective June 6th; Covers Canned, Bottled,
Frozen Foods

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(INS)—The Office of Price Administration today released its official June table of point values for processed foods with but one minor change from last month's point list and with little possibility of any fundamental changes being made this summer.

The table, effective this Sunday, June 6, covers canned and bottled fruits and vegetables, soups, baby foods, frozen foods, and dried peas, beans and lentils.

On the new table, the value of tomato juice has been reduced from four to two points for a one pound unit because sales "have been less than expected" and because dealers' stocks will increase this month.

OPA said that the reduction, applying also to all vegetable juice combinations containing 70 percent or more of tomato juice, thus places the point values of vegetable juices on the same level as most fruit juices.

No other point values were changed in the new list, which is effective through July 3. Officials called changes in the period between June 5 and July 3 "extremely unlikely."

It was learned that the present point values will probably not be greatly changed during the summer months, unless there is a serious crop failure or the armed forces make unexpectedly large demands for processed foods.

In announcing the point table, Paul O'Leary, OPA's ration chief, asserted that "the processed foods program, with gratifying success, has overcome a number of difficulties during its first three months of operation."

"Barring unforeseen and unpredictable emergencies, point changes will be restricted to once a month in keeping with OPA policy," he said.

"This will serve the convenience of consumers and merchants alike. It is OPA's purpose to ease the burden of rationing in any way that this can be done without imperiling the war program of fairly sharing scarce commodities."

At the same time, OPA took those actions intended to simplify and improve the ration program:

1. Changed the way of calculating the point value of corn-on-the-cob in the frozen foods classifications from six points per pound to one point per ear.
2. Listed on the June point table every item rationed.
3. For the first time rationed industrial container sizes of frozen foods.
4. Indicated on the official table all changes in values by placing a star next to the newly-established point value.

OPA also pointed out that dried and dehydrated soups will continue to remain off the ration list during June.

William A. Dobson Dies; Retired Naval Architect

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., June 4.—(INS)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for William Alexander Dobson, retired naval architect and honorary vice-president of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers.

Educated in private schools and the Chester Academy, Chester, he was one of the founders of the American Bureau of Shipping, an organization similar to Lloyds of London. He designed the battleship U. S. S. Brooklyn; the Turkish cruiser Mevlidiah and the passenger vessels Great Northern and Northern Pacific.

He is survived by two sons and two daughters.

TWO SPEAKERS ADDRESS ROTARIANS

Karl C. King and Daniel Bustaan Give Talks At Weekly Meeting

TELL OF VOCATIONS

Two prominent local officials, Karl C. King, manager of King Farms, and Daniel Bustaan, industrial traffic manager of the Paterson Parchment Paper Co., were the guest speakers before the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club at the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon.

Bustaan outlined the duties of a traffic manager and spoke of his experiences at Paterson Parchment Paper Co. King told the members about the 300 Jamaicans now working at King Farms.

"The prime purpose of an industrial traffic manager is to see that manufactured material is moved out of the plant as promptly and as cheaply as possible and to see that the customer is satisfied," Bustaan stated.

"Railroad cars are becoming scarcer every day, but boats are even scarcer and now the Pacific coast plant gets all paper by rail instead of by boat."

"Rates must be watched constantly and all complaints must be put before the Interstate Commerce Commission."

"Trucking, likewise, has become more acute. And with the 40 percent reduction now ordered it will become even more difficult to haul merchandise."

"Paterson is now getting raw materials from the closest points to save on freight bills and also to save time."

"Our plant," Bustaan concluded, "is now making materials for the Army and Navy and the goods must be delivered on time."

Following Mr. Bustaan's talk Mr. King pointed out that his organization is also confronted with many serious traffic problems.

"It took 14 days to get a load of perishable goods to a Mississippi camp," King said. "And we lost a large shipment of spinach to Chicago last week."

"Our problem, however, at the present time is the problem of getting help to work on the farm. We discovered as a result of a recent survey that we needed over 1000 helpers within the next two weeks. We were fortunate in getting 300 Jamaicans."

"These Jamaicans, all men, came by boat to New Orleans and then by train to Morrisville. Thirty-seven pre-fabricated houses have been erected on the Fabian Farm, Bristol Pike, above Tullytown, to house these imported workers."

"We are very well satisfied with the work of these Jamaicans. And we know they are glad to be here because of the conditions in their own country."

"Before these men were sent here their characters were checked, previous experience was investigated, and physical examinations given. If one of them was discovered to have had any previous trouble in Jamaica he was not allowed to come to this country."

"Many of these men are well educated and speak very good English. The passports were issued for agricultural labor only and each group of twenty has a leader. One Jamaican acts as a manager for each of these groups and is directly under one of the King Farms men."

"These men are not permitted to leave the camp without permission and if there is any sign of misconduct they will be returned immediately to Jamaica."

"Present plans do not include any provisions for keeping these men permanently, but from the present outlook they will be needed on our farms to the first of December."

"These men seem to be very thrifty and apparently do not have any bad habits. No gambling has been seen. Most of them are Episcopalian in religion. Their own government provides a nurse in attendance for these men."

"We are very well satisfied with the work of these Jamaicans," King concluded.

MAINTENANCE IS A BIG FACTOR IN COSTS OF SCHOOLS

Bristol School District Has Faced Increasing Costs
During Last Few Years

BUILDINGS ARE OLD

The Lighting Systems Are Being Gradually
Improved

This is one of a series of articles issued by the Bristol Borough School Board to better acquaint the public with conditions in the school district.

The Bristol School Board has experienced increasing costs during the last few years in the maintenance of the school buildings in Bristol. Maintenance costs generally rise as buildings depreciate, and depreciation and maintenance are inevitable to a large degree in an increasing scale as the buildings become older.

The school buildings in Bristol are by no means of recent construction. The average age of all buildings in Bristol is 47 years, not including the old Wood street building. This building was erected in 1837 and is again in service. If this building is included, the average age is 57 years. The oldest building is the old Wood street structure, erected in 1837, being 106 years old. This building while closed for school purposes since 1922, has recently been put into service as a vocational training school for war workers. The next oldest building in service is the Washington street school, erected in 1878 and in service for 65 years. Next in age is the Bath street building, built in 1880 and in constant use for 63 years. The next school, built in 1894, was the old high school building on Wood street and in constant use for 49 years, although not as a high school since 1922. Fifteen years later, the building on Jefferson avenue was built. This school building has been in use for 34 years. In 1922 the school district acquired a building erected in 1917 by the Federal government during the last war. This building, constructed for elementary schools, was used to provide space for a rapidly increasing high school and occupied by both elementary and high school classes. The move was necessary because a bond issue for the construction of a high school was turned down. In 1926 a major addition was made to this building and again in 1938, a small addition was added.

The review of the building program of the school district does not include a building on Otter street built many years ago but no longer owned by the district, nor the small two-room building on Beaver street, no longer used. A general examination of the age of our school buildings would indicate that the school board has faced serious maintenance and replacement problems. Service systems such as heating, plumbing, ventilation and lighting have a limited period of usefulness and in buildings as old as we possess these problems have recently been acute and frequent.

The necessity to make safe buildings out of old buildings often necessitates costly changes. Constant care must be taken to assure safety from fire hazards and to provide emergency fire control and to make certain that a safe and rapid dismissal from buildings is provided. Recent Air raid precautions made it required to provide safe air raid shelters in each building and to reduce the danger from shattering glass, splinters and fragments.

During the current year, the roof on the Bath street building and the roof on the gymnasium addition to the high school building had to be replaced.

MAN ELECTROCUTED WHEN BOOM HITS WIRE

Charles L. Adams, 46, of Phila., Was Drilling Well
At Point Pleasant

A WORLD WAR "VET"

DOYLESTOWN, June 4.—Doylestown police and firemen worked frantically for two hours Wednesday afternoon in an effort to save the life of a well-driller who was electrocuted when the boom of the machine contacted a 2300-volt high tension wire, at Point Pleasant.

The dead man is Charles Lewis Adams, 46, of 4021 Baring street, Philadelphia, who for 24 years had been employed by John Wiley, Warrington well-driller. He was well known in Doylestown.

Adams was a veteran of World War I, and is survived by a son, Charles Lewis Adams, Jr., now at Sampson, N. Y., in the Navy. Another son, James Adams, died about a month ago of Hodgkin's disease. His wife, Edith, survives.

Wiley, who was also working with the well-drilling machine when the accident happened, was knocked to the ground but suffered no ill effects.

The well-driller was on the property of Carl Rothman, of New York, located on Swager road, in the village of Point Pleasant. Rothman had recently contracted to have a well drilled, and the machine was just being set for action when the unfortunate accident happened as the boom touched the high tension wire.

Pvt. Fred Kohler, of the Doylestown sub-station of Motor Police, and Patrolmen Irwin and Beck, of the Doylestown police, together with a number of Point Pleasant residents and firemen, administered artificial respiration from 4 to 6 before Adams was finally pronounced dead by Dr. Bradford Green, of Buckingham.

Dr. H. Clayton Moyer, coroner, viewed the body and issued a certificate of accidental death. The body was removed to the George R. Leator funeral home in Doylestown.

The men who mine the coal for this arsenal of democracy choose today to follow their union leader rather than the commander-in-chief of a nation at war.

With President Roosevelt reported ready to ask Congress for anti-strike legislation to implement his back-to-work ultimatum, the nation's coal pile disappeared at an alarming rate. And with it went the first few scattered and vital war industries.

Activities of Interest To All
In The Various Communities

CLEANED BY SCRIBES

Chief Stoker's Mate Francis Jordan, a chief petty officer in the British Navy, was the special guest at the meeting of the Plumsteadville Grange last week.

A Scotsman, the sailor entertained his audience with a number of Scotch songs. The ship on which he was on duty was torpedoed and he is now in Philadelphia. Jordan has been working on the farm of Isaac Gross, a member of the Grange, as a laborer. A member of the British Navy for 28 years, he wore on his uniform a medal for 15 years of continued service. He told the group that he has been in every country in the world except Canada and that he was once entertained by the Emperor of Japan and has traveled with the Prince of Wales.

Miss Kathryn Schmidt, Bucksville, a senior at Nockmixon Township high school, has attained the highest scholastic average of this year's graduating class, and has been named valedictorian.

The activities of the seniors will be concluded with the commencement in the St. Luke's Church, Ferndale, on Friday evening. The guest speaker will be Dr. Harvey R. Bauman, Quakertown, a returned medical missionary from India.

U. S. To Be Dimmed Out To Save Coal Supply

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The War Production Board will issue an order within the next 24 hours for a Nation-wide dimout, it was learned today, in order to make available to steel producers the excess stocks of coal now in the hands of utility companies. The effective date of the order remains in doubt.

The order will forbid at least until the miners return to work—all interior and exterior sign lighting, show-window advertising displays, show-window and show-case lighting, and decorative lighting whose power is supplied by utility companies using coal.

The order also will forbid outdoor night baseball games and all other outdoor sports requiring floodlights, and will shut off indefinitely all air-conditioning supplied by coal-powered units.

Air-conditioning on railway trains will be ended except for those cars that are cooled by ice. No trains will be heated, even in those northernmost sections of the country where heat is still desirable.

The order will be issued with the understanding that it need not go into effect if the striking miners go back to work, and the duration of the dimout will be determined by the inroads of the coal strike on the coal stockpiles of the large steel companies, it was understood.

WANT GRAVITY WATER LINE FINISHED SOON

Councilmen of Sellersville
Promise It Will Be Done
This Summer

RAINFALL HINDERS

SELLERSVILLE, June 4.—The council members of Sellersville borough are anxious to have the new gravity water line completed during this summer.

High water has been the drawback to date. It is stated. More than eight inches of rain have fallen in two weeks, four times the normal rainfall for that length of time, and the digging project is far behind schedule.

Councilmen have requested Street Commissioner Philip Coll to get the pipe laying project going again. Heavy rainfall has caused cave-ins of the ditches dug by the contractor. Consequently the pipe layers had to excavate again by hand. This in turn held up the work, so that it did not matter whether the steam shovel was hundreds of feet ahead of the layers.

R.S. Erick, president of council, said he is doubtful whether the project will be finished ahead of the date previously announced, July 1.

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, June 4.—Resignations of three teachers were accepted by Bensalem Township board of school directors last evening at the June meeting, and at this session it was also announced that the tax collector had refused the 1943 school tax duplicate.

The teachers resigning are: Miss May Early, who teaches first grade at Cornwells school; Miss Elizabeth Knabe, who teaches mathematics and science at Trevoise junior high school; and Miss Isabelle McCoy, who teaches grade four at Cornwells.

Miss Knabe, who served for some time as a missionary to China, plans to attend a language school. Miss McCoy has accepted a teaching position in her home town in Maryland, and Miss Early will fill a kindergarten position at Media. The resignations are effective with the end of the school term, sessions ending on Wednesday, June 9th.

Elwood Rittenhouse, tax collector, refused the 1943 school tax duplicate, and Thomas Baxter, of Trevoise, was elected to collect the taxes.

Joseph Sharpe presided at the meeting, and all members were present. Bills were ordered paid.

CHEMICAL MIXERS MOVE CLOSER TO TOP OF THE LEAGUE

Schedule for Tonight
HUNTERS AND DIAMOND
(Maple Beach field)
Umpires: Burke and Kervick

The Rohm and Haas team moved closer to the top position of the Bristol Suburban League by handing the Hunter nine a 7-1 reverse last night on the Maple Beach field. The Hunter team used three pitchers in an effort to stop the Rohm and Haas scoring onslaught.

Five runs in the fifth inning turned the trick for the chemical workers. Until that time they had held a scant margin of one run and it seemed as if the game would be a hurling match between the south-paw "Eddie" Sullivan and Tony Rotundo.

But Tony ran into a mess of trouble in the fifth and when it was over, he was out of the box, a quintet of Rohm and Haas runners crossed the plate and Tony Palumbo was doing the pitching. Palumbo did very little pitching as he walked three batters in a row. "Champ" Fiorvanti hurled the last frame and aided by a double-play held the Hunter team scoreless.

To start that disastrous fifth, Palumbo messed up Hutchison's roller. Murphy hit to Rotundo who erred, placing runners on second and third. W. Ritter singled and two runs crossed. Rudy scored. Continued On Page Four

JR. H. S. GRADUATES GIVEN ADVICE TO CONTINUE STUDIES

Paul L. Gruber, Ass't Bucks
Co. Sup't of Schools,
Is Speaker

CERTIFICATES TO 67

Bristol Twp. Commencement Held Here; Award
Legion Medals

Considering the temptations of students to terminate their studies and enter the field of industry in these days of plentiful jobs and high wages, Paul L. Gruber, assistant superintendent of Bucks County public schools, advised graduates of Bristol Township Junior High School to continue their formal education.

Mr. Gruber was the speaker at the commencement exercises of the ninth grade last evening, held in the Bristol high school auditorium. He was introduced by Walter Miller, a member of the faculty, and addressed a large audience which witnessed bestowal of certificates of promotion to 67 young folks.

"The temptation to drop educational pursuits and rush into industry is great right now. But please give this matter much thought. Consult your parents, your teachers and pastors, and reach a fertile decision. Don't discontinue the opportunity of free public education. I hope to see all of you in some public high school when I visit the schools next fall."

The speaker complimented the board of education on its school system, stating: "The county office is proud of the work in Bristol Township. Our visits to your schools have shown many things that are definitely commendable."

In addressing some remarks directly to the graduates, Mr. Gruber said: "This day is a commencement of many things in the realm of education for you young people. And I want to remind you that human beings have to obey the laws of the physical, mental, moral and social realms, or the consequences will be reaped. Keep 'thou thought' before you throughout life to that every action there is an equal opposite reaction. This law has many implications. You will find that the numerous things you have done in completing the requirements for graduation have prepared you for training and some day those things, no matter how lightly you regarded them, will come back to you. There will be a reaction. These things will be part of us, and sometime the reaction will be the fruiting."

The graduates were presented by Supervising Principal Andrew Jackson to Vice President Carl F. Vetter, of the board of directors, Mr. Vetter presenting the certificates of promotion. High above the graduates, on the rear wall of the stage, appeared a "V" for Victory in the entire piece being in red, white and blue.

The American Legion medals for outstanding traits of character and scholarship were presented to two eighth grade pupils, Mrs. Leo Riley, Croydon, presented the girl's medal to Violet DeNunzio, and the Rev. Arthur F. Gibson, Eddington, made the presentation of the boy's medal to Edwin Johnson. The two speakers represented the American Legion Auxiliary and the Robert W. Bracken Post of the Legion.

Janice Dewese, a member of the graduating class, presented a gift to Mr. Jackson on behalf of the class of 43.

The class and the girls' chorus were led in several numbers by A. Erna McKevitt, the pianist being Rosemary Hafele.

Other program numbers were: Address of welcome, June Siler; farewell address, Marie Ostrowski; school song, class, benediction, the Rev. Mr. Gibson.

RATIONING AND GAS TAXES

Gasoline tax collections for February and March in sixteen eastern states indicate the effect of a ban on so-called pleasure driving on state motor fuel revenues already reduced substantially by local shortages and the general mileage rationing program.

February and March collections for January and February driving in thirteen eastern states were 44.7 and 44.2 per cent respectively below collections for the same months in 1942, according to the Federation of Tax Administrators. Yes—believe it or not—there is such an organization.

Since the ban on pleasure driving in these states was in effect during January and February only, until its recent revival, the figures give a picture of a reduction in state revenues which might result from a nationwide ban.

In the remainder of the forty-six states reporting gasoline tax collections to the federation, collections for the two months were only 38 and 29 per cent below figures for the same months last year.

The over-all reductions, when compared with the general trend in collections since the gasoline rationing program was instituted, would indicate that gasoline tax revenue losses because of rationing were leveling off and stabilizing between 30 and 40 per cent under collections before rationing.

With still more drastic curtailment in gasoline rationing in effect in the east and predictions that it may be extended to the entire nation, collections may, of course, drop more sharply.

WHEAT STOCK PILE

Should Washington give the word to producers of winter wheat to expand their sowing for the next crop by 10,000,000 acres, action that is expected to come before the end of July, it will be striking proof of the dramatic contracts presented by a controlled agriculture.

It was not long ago that the problem of disposing of surplus wheat looked hopeless to the producer. Year by year the carry-over showed a mounting accumulation. The United States, Canada, Argentina, Russia constantly piled the reserves higher and higher. That reserve is still huge, but it is dwindling. Russia now has no surplus. Supplies from Australia and Argentina are beset by transportation difficulties. Heavy bread consumption and new uses for the grain—for livestock feeding and industrial alcohol—are draining the surplus in the United States and Canada.

Last year the United States contributed 50,000,000 bushels to a wheat pool for free relief and rehabilitation purposes. It is now proposed to increase this pool by 100,000,000 bushels, with the United States to supply the bulk of the increase.

Perhaps dropping block-buster bombs in the crater of Vesuvius wouldn't do the Allied cause any good, as a scientist says, but it would be a lot of fun.

Discusses "The Ballet" At Women's Club Meeting

DOYLESTOWN, June 4.—At the home of Mrs. Calvin S. Boyer on Tuesday, Walter Hillhouse, of New York and Buckingham, addressed members of the Village Improvement Association on the subject of "The Ballet."

The well-known ballet master was the guest speaker at the last meeting of the V. I. A. before summer adjournment.

The speaker declared that ballet is a sport as well as an art, and brings in physical as well as mental training.

"A good ballet performance is a preview of Heaven in which all that is beautiful and fine in the imagination of man is blended into a masterpiece of color, light, music and movement of ethereal grace."

Almighty and Eternal God, help us to show toward our fellowmen that kindness which we have so often craved from them. Give unto us the compassion and understanding of Jesus, that we may never be able to turn coldly from any man who needs us. Make us quick to hear the cry of the suffering and to feel the need of the sorrowing. May we know the joy of carrying hope to hearts which are heavy, and have long been strangers to hope. Let us in all things emulate Him who was the perfect example. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

In recent years plumbing problems have been much more frequent. Most plumbing systems are quite old and rapidly showing need of replacement. Sanitary conditions must be maintained even though unexpected costs arise.

Recently a plan of replacing our very inadequate lighting system was undertaken. Poor lighting has often been neglected too long at the expense of failing eyesight. Current restrictions on copper have halted this program.

School boards are faced with making decisions in the wisest way of spending public funds. Good business demands foresight in maintaining buildings in the best condition. A continuous long term policy of "making it do" is often

BY JOE ELBERSON

In an article in the May issue of the Pennsylvania Game News, Mr. John B. Miller has written a very interesting article on "Rabbits and Victory Gardens." Since many complaints have already been registered indicating the cottontail has made himself a nuisance in gardens in this area (including my garden) I am going to repeat some of the repellants listed by Mr. Miller in his article.

"One commonly reported to be very effective," according to Mr. Miller's article, "is powdered lime sprinkled lightly on the plants when they are damp." I have used this suggestion with a good degree of success, and lime is reasonably priced.

"The sprinkling of dusting sulphur liberally over the plants is also very effective," Mr. Miller writes.

"Others include wood ashes and red pepper mixed and sprinkled on the plants; three ounces of epsom salts to one gallon of water; or one teaspoonful of creolin or lysol to one gallon of water. If properly used none of these is injurious to the plants but rabbits do not like them.

"Some people have had splendid success by stretching rope, heavy cord, binder twine, or similar material soaked in creosote around vegetable beds a few inches from the ground. Others have used empty bottles on their vegetable beds. These are placed in the ground, neck down, at few-foot intervals over the vegetable beds and apparently the reflection of light from the bottles scares the rabbits away.

"Another device consists of stretching heavy string or cord around the vegetable bed about eighteen to twenty inches above the ground, depending upon the kind of crops grown, and attaching thereto white cloth streamers about a foot apart. These streamers should not quite reach to the ground, and when the wind blows they will be even more effective. Moth balls scattered around the edge of the garden or vegetable bed have been successful in many instances in keeping rabbits from destroying crops."

Eels have held the spotlight in local angling spots for the past week. In the river, Neshaunmy Creek, Silver Lake, Maple

Beach and other local sections reports have been coming in that more eels than anything else have been caught.

Nick Rubino has been out helping local sportsmen and farmers again... crow hunting. He made two trips last week out into the woods near Bristol and got a dozen crows. He reports that the young are leaving the nests now.

The Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association meets next Tuesday evening, June 8th, in the Odd Fellows Hall at 8 P. M. Some very interesting developments are expected at this session.

I, but he said councilmen are determined that it must be finished this summer. The job has been in progress for about two years. It was started by the W. P. A., which discontinued work this spring.

when the job was thrown upon the shoulders of council.

Had it not been one of the wettest seasons in 18 years, the mile of remaining pipe now would be in the ground and the town's 12-inch gravity line would be functioning, it is believed.

ter with a hit and Dick pushed Rudy across with a single. Palumbo who had relieved Rotundo when Dick batted got Hunter out but walked Sullivan, Caro and Vanzant in succession to force in a run. The next two batters were easy outs.

A hit by Pieo, an error by Hunter and another hit by Stockton scored the only Hunter tally of the contest. Barbetta also tried to score on Stockton's hit but was nailed at the plate on a perfect block by Vanzant.

The two runs scored by Rohm & Haas in the second were the results of a hit by Sullivan, a walk to Caro, and Vanzant's clean bingle to left.
